PART II: OBTAINING PERSONAL INFORMATION

Obtaining your home contact information allows the Department to keep you informed of activities and events. The QED has recently become more involved with its alumni by organizing receptions and distributing the QED Newsletter.

Obtaining your business contact information helps the Department in at least two ways. First, it enables the Department to provide statistics for various departments and/or agencies associated with universities (including Queen's), government, and the private sector. For this purpose, names are normally not given, and contact information is never disclosed without your consent. Secondly, the QED has a very active and successful placement service to help graduates obtain suitable positions as professional economists. Some of our alumni are already involved in our placement service, and it is our hope that more will want to become involved.

Information you provide below is recorded in our database and is shared only with authorized representatives of the Department and the University. If you have already provided us with your contact information, please use the space below to update us.
