Introduction to the Economic Census

PURPOSES AND USES OF THE ECONOMIC CENSUS

The economic census is the major source of facts about the structure and functioning of the Nation's economy. It provides essential information for government, business, industry, and the general public.

The economic census furnishes an important part of the framework for such composite measures as the gross domestic product, input/output measures, production and price indexes, and other statistical series that measure short-term changes in economic conditions.

Policymaking agencies of the Federal Government use the data, especially in monitoring economic activity and providing assistance to business.

State and local governments use the data to assess business activities and tax bases within their jurisdictions and to develop programs to attract business.

Trade associations study trends in their own and competing industries and keep their members informed of market changes.

Individual businesses use the data to locate potential markets and to analyze their own production and sales performance relative to industry or area averages.

AUTHORITY AND SCOPE

Title 13 of the United States Code (sections 131, 191, and 224) directs the Census Bureau to take the economic census every 5 years, covering years ending in 2 and 7. The 1992 Economic Census consists of the following eight censuses:

- Census of Retail Trade
- Census of Wholesale Trade
- Census of Service Industries
- Census of Financial, Insurance, and Real Estate Industries
- Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities
- Census of Manufactures
- Census of Mineral Industries
- Census of Construction Industries

Special programs also cover enterprise statistics and minority-owned and women-owned businesses. (The 1992 Census of Agriculture and 1992 Census of Governments are conducted separately.) The next economic census is scheduled to be taken in 1998 covering the year 1997.

AVAILABILITY OF THE DATA

The results of the economic census are available in printed reports and on compact discs for sale by the Census Bureau. Order forms for all types of products are available on request from Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-0001. A more complete description of publications being issued from this census is on the inside back cover of this document.

Census facts are also widely disseminated by trade associations, business journals, and newspapers. Volumes containing census statistics are available in most major public and college libraries. Finally, State data centers in every State as well as business and industry data centers in many States also supply economic census statistics.

WHAT'S NEW IN 1992

The 1992 Economic Census covers more of the economy than any previous census. New for 1992 are data on communications, utilities, financial, insurance, and real estate, as well as coverage of more transportation industries. The economic, agriculture, and governments censuses now collectively cover nearly 98 percent of all economic activity.

Among other changes, new 1992 definitions affect the boundaries of about a third of all metropolitan areas. Also, the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses has now been expanded to include all corporations.

HISTORICAL INFORMATION

The economic census has been taken as an integrated program at 5-year intervals since 1967 and before that for 1963, 1958, and 1954. Prior to that time, the individual subcomponents of the economic census were taken separately at varying intervals.

The economic census traces its beginnings to the 1810 Decennial Census, when questions on manufacturing were included with those for population. Coverage of economic activities was expanded for 1840 and subsequent censuses to include mining and some commercial activities. In 1902, Congress established a permanent Census Bureau and directed that a census of manufactures be taken every 5 years. The 1905 Manufactures Census was the first time a census was taken apart from the regular every-10-year population census.

The first census of business was taken in 1930, covering 1929. Initially it covered retail and wholesale trade and construction industries, but it was broadened in 1933 to include some of the service trades.

The 1954 Economic Census was the first census to be fully integrated—providing comparable census data across economic sectors, using consistent time periods, concepts, definitions, classifications, and reporting units. It was the first census to be taken by mail, using lists of firms provided by the administrative records of other Federal agencies. Since 1963, administrative records also have been used to provide basic statistics for very small firms, reducing or eliminating the need to send them census questionnaires. The Enterprise Statistics Program, which publishes combined data from the economic census, was made possible with the implementation of the integrated census program in 1954.

The range of industries covered in the economic censuses has continued to expand. The census of construction industries began on a regular basis in 1967, and the scope of service industries was broadened in 1967, 1977, and 1987. The census of transportation began in 1963 as a set of surveys covering travel, transportation of commodities, and trucks, but expanded in 1987 to cover business establishments in several transportation industries. For 1992, these statistics are incorporated into a broadened census of transportation, communications, and utilities. Also new for 1992 is the census of financial, insurance, and real estate industries. This is part of a gradual expansion in coverage of industries previously subjected to government regulation.

The Survey of Minority-Owned Business Enterprises was first conducted as a special project in 1969 and was incorporated into the economic census in 1972 along with the Survey of Women-Owned Businesses.

An economic census has also been taken in Puerto Rico since 1909, in the Virgin Islands of the United States and Guam since 1958, and in the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands since 1982.

Statistical reports from the 1987 and earlier censuses provide historical figures for the study of long-term time series and are available in some large libraries. All of the census data published since 1967 are still available for sale on microfiche from the Census Bureau.

AVAILABILITY OF MORE FREQUENT ECONOMIC DATA

While the census provides complete enumerations every 5 years, there are many needs for more frequent data as well. The Census Bureau conducts a number of monthly, quarterly, and annual surveys, with the results appearing in publication series such as Current Business Reports (retail and wholesale trade and service industries), the Annual Survey of Manufactures, Current Industrial Reports, and the Quarterly Financial Report. Most of these surveys, while providing more frequent observations, yield less kind-of-business and geographic detail than the census. The County Business Patterns program offers annual statistics on the number of establishments, employment, and payroll classified by industry within each county.

SOURCES FOR MORE INFORMATION

More information about the scope, coverage, classification system, data items, and publications for each of the economic censuses and related surveys is published in the Guide to the 1992 Economic Census and Related Statistics. More information on the methodology, procedures, and history of the census is published in the History of the 1992 Economic Census. Contact Customer Services for information on availability.

Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities

GENERAL

The 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities, part of the 1992 Economic Census, covered transportation, communications, and utilities as defined in Division E of the *Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987*¹ (SIC), except for SIC Major Group 43, United States Postal Service.

Data are presented for establishments in the following classifications:

SIC code	Title
40 ²	Railroad transportation
41	Local and suburban transit and inter-urban highway passenger transportation
42	Motor freight transportation and warehousing
44	Water transportation
45 ³	Transportation by air
46	Pipelines, except natural gas
47	Transportation services
48	Communications
49	Electric, gas, and sanitary services

This report does not include firms without paid employees (nonemployers) and governmental organizations classified in the covered industries.

For firms classified in Pipelines, except natural gas (SIC 46); Telephone, telegraph, and other message communications (SIC 481 and 482); and Electric and gas services (SIC 491, 492, and 493), the basic tabulations in this report include establishments which are auxiliary (primary function is providing a service, such as an administrative office) to other establishments within the same organization. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for those auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

For the 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities, large- and medium-size firms, plus all firms known to operate more than one establishment, were sent questionnaires to be completed and returned to the Census Bureau by mail. For selected very small firms, data from existing administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead. These records provided basic information on location, kind of business, revenue, payroll, number of employees, and legal form of organization. In addition, more detailed information for selected small employer firms was obtained on the various questionnaires.

Appendix A gives a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

CENSUS DISCLOSURE RULES

In accordance with Federal law governing census reports, no data are published that would disclose the operations of an individual establishment or business. However, the number of establishments in a kind-of-business classification is not considered a disclosure, so this information may be released even though other information is withheld.

GEOGRAPHIC AREAS COVERED

The specialized data in this report are provided for the United States as a whole and for some subjects by selected metropolitan statistical areas (MSA's) and/or States. The MSA's included in this report are those defined by the Office of Management and Budget with a population nucleus of at least 50,000 inhabitants.⁴ Each MSA consists of one or more counties meeting standards of metropolitan character; in New England, cities and towns rather than counties are the component geographic units.

²Data presented for SIC Major Group 40, Railroad transportation, were reported to the Association of American Railroads and published in Railroad Facts, 1993 edition. These data are shown for the United States only.

³Data presented for SIC Major Group 45, Transportation by air, include revenue for large certificated passenger carriers that was reported to the Office of Airline Statistics, U.S. Department of Transportation, and published in Air Carrier Financial Statistics Quarterly. These data are shown for the United States only.

⁴According to 1990 Census of Population or subsequent special census.

DOLLAR VALUES

All dollar values presented in this report are expressed in current dollars, i.e., 1992 data are expressed in 1992 dollars and 1987 data in 1987 dollars. Consequently, when making comparisons to prior years, users of the data should consider the inflation that has occurred.

RELIABILITY OF DATA

All data compiled in this report originated from either census questionnaires or administrative records of other Federal agencies and, therefore, are not subject to sampling errors. However, the data are subject to nonsampling errors. Nonsampling errors can be attributed to many sources: inability to identify all cases in the actual universe; definition and classification difficulties; differences in the interpretation of questions; errors in recording or coding the data obtained; and other errors of collection, response, coverage, and estimation for missing or misreported data.

The accuracy of these tabulated data is determined by the joint effects of the various nonsampling errors. No direct measurement of these effects has been obtained except for estimation for missing or misreported data; however, precautionary steps were taken in all phases of the collection, processing, and tabulation of the data in an effort to minimize the effects of nonsampling errors.

The Bureau of the Census obtains on computer tape limited information extracted from administrative records of other Federal agencies. This information is used in conjunction with other information available to the Census Bureau to develop estimates for nonemployers, small employers, and other establishments for which responses were not received in time for publication. For an indication of the extent that data included in these reports were obtained from the administrative records of other Federal agencies and from estimation, rather than reports directly from respondents, see appendix E. Also, see appendix A for a more detailed explanation of census coverage and methodology.

This report is a recompilation of data collected in the 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities. It provides detailed information for specific SIC's such as major sources of revenue for most industries: government subsidies and revenue-generating equipment for passenger transportation; purchased transportation for motor freight transportation; gross sales, cost, and type of purchased travel for travel agencies; exported energy for electric, gas, and sanitary services; and construction activities for pipelines, communications, and electric, gas, and sanitary services. Refer to the Users' Guide for Locating Statistics in This Report for a complete list of the detailed data and where they are located.

SPECIAL TABULATIONS

Special tabulations of data collected in the 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities may be obtained, depending on availability of time and personnel, on diskette, computer tape, or in tabular form. The data will be in summary form and subject to the same rules prohibiting disclosure of confidential information (including name, address, kind of business, or other data for individual business establishments or companies) as are the regular publications.

Special tabulations are prepared on a cost basis. A request for a cost estimate, as well as exact specifications on the type and format of the data to be provided, should be directed to the Chief, Services Division, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-0001.

To discuss a special tabulation before submitting specifications, call 1-800-541-8345.

General Explanation

CENSUS COVERAGE AND METHODOLOGY

Structure and method of enumeration. Firms in the 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities were divided into the nonmail universe and mail universe. The coverage and method of obtaining census information from each follow:

1. The nonmail universe consisted of firms which were not required to file a regular census return and included:

- a. All nonemployers, i.e., all firms subject to Federal income tax with no paid employees during 1992. Revenue information for these firms was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies. Although consisting of many firms, nonemployers accounted for less than 3 percent of total revenue of all establishments covered in the census.

The census included only those transportation, communications, and utilities nonemployer firms which reported a revenue volume of $1,000 or more during 1992. Establishments exempt from Federal income tax with no paid employees were excluded as in previous censuses.

Data for nonemployers are not included in this report but are provided in the Nonemployer Statistics report (UC92-N-1).

- b. Selected small employers, i.e., single-establishment firms with payroll below a specified cutoff. (The term "employers" refers to firms with one or more paid employees at any time during 1992 as shown in the active administrative records of other Federal agencies.) Although the payroll cutoff varied by kind of business, small employers generally included firms with less than 10 employees and represented about 10 percent of total revenue of establishments covered in the census.

Data on revenue, payroll, and employment for employer firms below the payroll cutoff were derived or estimated from administrative records of other Federal agencies, except for a sample of small employer firms in classifications for which specialized data requirements precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. This sample was included in the mail universe.

2. The mail universe consisted of firms for which information was obtained by means of a mail canvass and included:

- a. Large employers, i.e., all employer firms above the payroll size cutoff referred to in section 1b. Within this category, an annual survey of company organization was conducted to identify establishment locations of firms, which operated at more than one location, and to obtain information on payroll and mid-March employment at each location. The 1991 Report of Company Organization was used as a coverage check in the census.

In the 1992 census, multiestablishment firms were divided into two categories of report forms, State and establishment. Firms with establishments classified in pipeline transportation, telephone and telegraph services, and electric and gas services were sent report forms to collect information for each State in which those firms operated. In addition to the information reported in summary for the State, those firms were asked to report the payroll and mid-March employment for each establishment operated in the State. All other establishments of multiestablishment firms were sent individual report forms for those locations.

All multiestablishment firms were asked to notify the Census Bureau of any States or establishments for which a form was not received. Report forms were subsequently provided to the firms for these States or establishments.

- b. The sample of small employer firms in classifications for which specialized data precluded reliance solely on administrative records sources. These firms were sent the census mailing packages containing the appropriate 1992 questionnaire.

Method of classifying kinds of business. The transportation, communications, and utilities industry classifications for all establishments were based on the *Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987*¹ (SIC). However, the method of assigning these classifications, and the level of detail at which establishments were classified, differed between the nonmail and mail universes as follows:

1. The nonmail universe

- a. Nonemployers were classified on the basis of information obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.
- b. Selected small employers in the nonmail universe were classified on the basis of the most current census kind-of-business classification available from one of the Census Bureau's current sample surveys or the 1987 census. Otherwise, the classification was obtained from administrative records of other Federal agencies.

If the census or administrative record classifications proved inadequate (none corresponded to a 1992 census classification in the detail required for employers), the firm was sent a brief inquiry requesting information necessary to assign a 1992 census kind-of-business code.

2. The mail universe

- a. Establishments in the mail universe covered by a State report were classified on the basis of answers to self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries from the State report combined with their response to self-designation for each establishment included in the State report.
- b. Establishments in the mail universe covered by establishment reports were classified on the basis of their individual answers to self-designation, sources of revenue, and other special inquiries. Establishment locations operated by a motor or water carrier (i.e., terminals) were classified according to the kind of trucking or water transportation activity they supported.

COMPARABILITY OF THE 1987 AND 1992 CENSUSES

The 1987 and 1992 censuses were conducted under similar conditions and procedures except for the following:

Geographic areas. The boundaries of a number of areas for which data are shown in the 1992 census are not the same as in the 1987 census because of annexations; other boundary changes; and redefinitions of metropolitan statistical areas (MSA's), primary metropolitan statistical areas (PMSA's), and consolidated metropolitan statistical areas (CMSA's).²

²Newly defined metropolitan areas (MA's) were announced by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) effective June 30, 1993.

Scope. The 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities includes Railroad transportation (SIC 40),³ Passenger transportation (SIC 41), Air transportation (SIC 45),⁴ Pipelines, except natural gas (SIC 46), Communications (SIC 48), and Electric, gas, and sanitary services (SIC 49). The 1987 census did not include these SIC groups.

Nonemployer firms. Data for nonemployers by kind of business are presented in a Nonemployer Statistics report (UC92-N-1) for the United States and States. The 1987 census did not include data for nonemployer firms.

Establishment and firm size. In 1987, data on establishment and firm size were published with other industry specific data in the Miscellaneous Subjects report (TC87-S-1). In 1992, establishment and firm size data are presented separately in the Establishment and Firm Size report (UC92-S-1) of the Subject Series.

Employment. In 1987, employment data withheld to avoid disclosing data for individual companies were represented with the symbol "(D)". In 1992, in the Geographic Area Series, Summary report withheld employment data are represented with symbols that denote employment size ranges. These symbols are defined in the introductory text.

Legal form of organization. In 1987, data on the number of individual proprietorships/partnerships were published in the Geographic Area Series, Summary report. In 1992, individual proprietorship/partnership data are published in the Establishment and Firm Size report (UC92-S-1) and in the Nonemployer Statistics report (UC92-N-1).

EXPLANATION OF TERMS

Establishments. An establishment is a single physical location at which business is conducted. It is not necessarily identical with a company or enterprise, which may consist of one establishment or more. The count of establishments represents those in business at any time during 1992. Appendix G provides a comparison of the number of establishments active any time during the year versus the number in business at the end of the year. Statistics for the transportation, communications, and utilities industries covered by the 1992 census represent a summary of reports for individual establishments rather than companies. When a census report was received, separate information was obtained for each location where ³Data presented for SIC Major Group 40, Railroad transportation, were reported to the Association of American Railroads as published in Railroad Facts, 1993 edition. These data are shown for the United States in the Geographic Area Summary report (UC92-A-1).

⁴Data presented for SIC Major Group 45, Transportation by air, include revenue for large certificated passenger carriers that was reported to the office of Airline Statistics, U.S. Department of Transportation, as published in Air Carrier Financial Statistics Quarterly. These data are shown for the United States only.

business was conducted. Conversely, when administrative records of other Federal agencies were used instead of a census report, or when a company included in the sample of small employers reported operations at more than one location, only one establishment was tallied. Consequently, the number of establishments published in the 1992 Census of Transportation, Communications, and Utilities is understated.

An attempt was made to measure a part of this understatement of locations operated by analyzing the sample of small employers. Of the firms mailed, 9,804 responded to the number of locations inquiry and reported operations at 10,038 locations. By weighting these variables and assuming that firms in the sample that did not return their report would respond as those that did report, this sample representing 33,693 firms would have operated a total of 36,665 establishments.

When two activities or more were carried on at a single location under a single ownership, all activities generally were grouped together as a single establishment. The entire establishment was classified on the basis of its major activity and all data for it were included in that classification. However, when distinct and separate economic activities (for which different industry classification codes were appropriate) were conducted at a single location under a single ownership, and when conditions prescribed by the SIC manual for recognizing the existence of more than one establishment were met, separate establishment reports for each of the different activities were obtained in the census.

Firms. A firm is a business organization or entity consisting of one domestic establishment (location) or more under common ownership or control. All establishments of subsidiary firms are included as part of the owning or controlling firm. For the economic census, the terms "firm" and "company" are synonymous.

Operating revenue (Basic dollar volume measure for transportation, communications, and utilities establishments covered by the census). Includes gross revenue from customers or clients for services rendered, from the use of facilities, and from merchandise sold in 1992, whether or not payment was received in 1992. Travel agents, shipping agents, and shipping brokers were to report commissions rather than gross billings or sales. Tour operators were to report the difference between the selling price of their tours and the amounts paid to suppliers, and freight forwarders were to report the difference between gross charges and the amounts paid to other transportation companies (net). Telephone service establishments were to include revenue received from international calls originating in the United States (including that portion paid to foreign countries for accessing their network). These establishments were to include allowances for uncollectible accounts. Network and broadcast stations were to include advertising sales net of commissions paid to agency representatives and brokers. Rental revenue from leasing of vehicles, railroad cars, equipment, instruments, tools, etc., marketed under operating leases are included in revenues as well as the fair sales value of merchandise marketed in 1992 under capital, finance, or "full payout" leases. Revenues also include the total value of service contracts, amounts received for work subcontracted to others and from repair services provided to others, and dues and assessment from members and affiliates.

Revenues are net after deductions for refunds and allowances for merchandise returned by customers. Revenues do not include sales, occupancy, admissions, or other taxes collected directly from customers and paid directly by the firm to a local, State, or Federal tax agency, nor do they include income from such sources as contributions, gifts, and grants; dividends, interest, and investments; or sale or rental of real estate. Also excluded are rents and revenue (gross as well as the establishment's share) from departments or concessions which are operated by others; sales of used equipment rented or leased to customers; commissions from vending and amusement machine operators; and other nonoperating income such as royalties and franchise fees. Telephone service establishments were to exclude revenue collected on behalf of another company. Tax-exempt broadcast stations were to exclude contributions, gifts, grants, and other nonoperating income.

Annual payroll. Payroll includes all forms of compensation, such as salaries, wages, tips, commissions, bonuses, vacation allowances, sick-leave pay, and employee contributions to qualified pension plans paid during 1992 to all full- and part-time employees. For corporations, payroll includes salaries paid to officers and executives; for unincorporated businesses, it does not include payments to or withdrawals by proprietors or partners. Payroll is reported before deductions for social security, income tax, insurance, union dues, etc. This definition of payroll is the same as that used by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) on form 941.

First-quarter payroll. This item consists of payroll, as defined above, paid to persons employed at any time during the quarter January to March, 1992.

Paid employees for pay period including March 12. This item consists of the full- and part-time employees, including salaried officers and executives of corporations, and employees on paid sick leave, paid vacations and paid holidays who were on the payroll the pay period including March 12. Not included are proprietors and partners of unincorporated firms, employees of commission agents, and employees of departments or concessions operated by other firms. The definition of paid employees is the same as that used on IRS form 941.

Auxiliary establishments. Each company included in this census was asked to identify and separately report auxiliary locations whose primary functions were to manage, administer, service, or support the activities of the other establishments of the company. For firms classified in Pipelines, except natural gas (SIC 46); Telephone, telegraph, and other message communications (SIC 481 and 482); and Electric and gas services (SIC 491, 492, and 493), the basic tabulations in this report for these industries include data for auxiliary establishments. For firms classified in all other industries covered by this report, the basic tabulations do not include data for auxiliary establishments. Data for those auxiliaries are presented in a subsequent report issued as part of the 1992 Enterprise Statistics reports.

KIND-OF-BUSINESS CLASSIFICATIONS

Transportation, Communications, Electric, Gas, and Sanitary Services as defined in Division E of the Standard Industrial Classification Manual: 1987 (SIC), includes establishments primarily engaged in rendering a wide variety of services to individuals, business and government establishments, and other organizations.

Establishments covered by the census were assigned kind-of-business classifications according to the industry classifications defined in the 1987 SIC manual. When a more detailed classification than defined in the 1987 SIC manual was needed, additional kinds of businesses were identified within an SIC industry.

The basis for a kind-of-business classification is described above in "Method of classifying kinds of business." Descriptions of those kinds of business for which data are provided in this report follow.

These data are presented for the United States.

The Miscellaneous Subjects report (UC92-S-2) presents data for the United States as a whole and, where feasible, for States and MA's for establishments with payroll. Data are provided for some kinds of business on major sources of revenue; purchased transportation; cost of purchased travel; revenue by class of customer; and other miscellaneous subjects.

Electronic Media

All data included in the printed reports are available on CD-ROM. For the Commodity Flow Survey data, the CD-ROM provides greater detail than the printed reports with respect to shipment distance and weight ranges. Electronic media products are available for users who wish to summarize, rearrange, or process large amounts of data. In addition to CD-ROM's containing data from printed reports, there is a separate CD-ROM for the Truck Inventory and Use Survey which contains microdata information for each truck in the sample. The term microdata refers to the unaggregated records for the individual responses. The records are modified to avoid the possibility of identifying individual households or establishments. These products, with corresponding technical documentation, are sold by Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, DC 20233-0001.
